

Athena

By Three At Home

Words and music by Dann Russo

Oh Athena
I have a headache
I might just chisel you out
Or you could stay here
For safe keeping
And help me expel all the doubt
Come on, help me figure it out

Dearest Bridget
Give me shelter
Under your blanket of stars
Like the child
In the manger
Taking His message to heart
Come on, help me speak through this guitar

Deeper within
Than the ink in my skin
Is the promise you told me
That I'm gonna win
And I trust you more
Than ever before
And I feel it all down to my core

Come on, Lilith
Open up the gates
That lead us to paradise
I don't care if
We have to break in
Cutting through fire and ice
You know outcasts like us
Don't always think twice
You know outcasts like us
Don't always think twice

Deeper within
Than the ink in my skin

Is the promise you told me
That I'm gonna win
And I trust you more
Than ever before
And I feel it all down to my core

Deeper within
Than the ink in my skin
Is the promise you told me
That I'm gonna win
And I trust you more
Than ever before
And I feel it all down to my core

Feel it all down to my core
I'm gonna be something more

Oh Athena
I have a headache
